
Berlinale 2013: THE SPIRIT meets Tony Leung and Anne Hathaway

Tony Leung Chiu-Wai in the mood for interview - Anne Hathaway look hot in cold Berlin

Berlin, February 8th/9th, 2013: SPIRIT - EIN LÄCHELN IM STURM (SPIRIT - A SMILE IN THE STORM) founder and editor Marc Hairapetian met one of the most popular and best actors of Far East at Ritz Carlton Hotel: Tony Leung Chiu-Wai (born 1962 in Hong Kong, starring in "Chungking Express", "Hero", "2046") was in the mood for interview and talked about the friendship with director Wong Kar-Wai. They showed together at International Film Festival Berlin (Berlinale) their new martial arts film "The Grandmaster". Tony who was wonderful in romantic classic "In the Mood for Love" (2000) is very interested in German pop music and asked THE SPIRIT about a list of his favorite bands. Done! One day later THE SPIRIT met Australian actor Hugh Jackman ("X-Men", "The Fountain") for third time and US actress Anne Hathaway ("The Princess Diaries", "The Dark Knight Rises") for first time. Both Hollywood stars were presenting the film musical adaption of Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables". Anne was very happy about their short hair cut in style of Audrey Hepburn: "I like it even it is now so cold here in Germany!" Read soon exclusive interviews at www.spirit-fanzine.de!
