
A Smile In The Storm For The Boy Who Lost His Laugh

THE SPIRIT meets the adult Thomas Ohrner

THE SPIRIT aka Marc Hairapetian meets actor and talk show host Thomas "Tommi" Ohrner, the one and only "Timm Thaler" ("Tim Tyler: The Boy Who Lost His Laugh"). The leading actor of the legendary television series from 1979 (based on the novel by James Krüss) is special guest of the docusoap "Käpt'n Kasi - Auf hoher Spree" (TV release of his episode: December 14, 2015/German TV channel HISTORY) and looks in the age of 50 still youthful. The former pop singer has also a cameo appearance in the remake of "Timm Thaler" (directed by Andreas Dresen, starring Arved Friese as Timm, cinema release: December 22, 2016). Read soon the exclusive SPIRIT - A SMILE IN THE STORM interview with Thomas Ohrner about his childhood and adult career.

Marc Hairapetian for SPIRIT - EIN LÄCHELN IM STURM (SPIRIT - A SMILE IN THE STORM)
www.spirit-ein-laecheln-im-sturm.de / www.spirit-fanzine.de (December 13, 2015)

A set visit of the documentary "Käpt'n Kasi - Auf hoher Spree": Thomas Ohrner & THE SPIRIT aka Marc Hairapetian (photo: Berlin-Rummelsburger Bucht, September, 24, 2015, photo by Clemens Bilan/Getty Images for HISTORY)

Second meeting at preview of HISTORY docusoap "Käpt'n Kasi - Auf hoher Spree" aboard a ship called 'MS Rhein' near Berlin's Oberbaumbruecke on November 3, 2015 in Berlin (photo by PR/HISTORY/Getty/Bilan)

Thomas Ohrner as Timm Thaler and Horst Frank as the modern devil Baron de Lefouet (taken from the original soundtrack cover)